On The Grounds

ROYAL PALMS (ROYSTONEA OLERACEA)

The Royal Palm's standout feature is the dark green pinnate, or feather- like, fronds emerging from the bright green crownshaft. The glossy green trunk changes dramatically below the palm fronds to a smooth, light gray trunk that continues down to a budge at the roots. Remarkably, the Royal Palm which does well during tropical days and cool winter nights, not only tolerates, but seems to thrive in the inferior soil and inadequate drainage of urban environments where other trees tend to do poorly.

Location: McIntosh, Palmer Ranch Parkway West, Central Sarasota Parkway, Honore Avenue, Sawyer Loop
